

The five-year load tests on the elevators at the Joe L. Evins Federal Building is scheduled next week on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. These tests are required by safety regulations and will take approximately four hours per elevator. One elevator at a time will be shut down to allow for testing. During the testing procedure, building occupants may hear odd sounds coming from the elevator equipment. If you have any questions, please contact the Facility Management office on 576-0586.
